Wedding Guide and Tips - #1 Getting Started is the first in a series of ebooks by James Angelo. This ebook will provide you with practical and insightful information regarding the process of creating, developing and orchestrating your wedding.

My background in project management has enabled me to achieve successful weddings through utilizing the steps of determining a budget, creating a structure, developing contingencies, developing tools to processing and evaluating outcomes. I will guide you through various subjects and concepts with references from my successful weddings and events.

I love working with couples! I especially love infusing their personalities into their special day. I believe a bride can achieve a special wedding day at any budget.

Enjoy reading and if you have any specific questions you want to ask me, please contact me at my email or website denoted in the book.

Oh...by the way...Congratulations!
